

- RESIDENCE HALLS
- CAMPUS CENTERS
- ACADEMIC BUILDINGS
- PERFORMING ARTS
- SACRED SPACES
- CAMPUS PLANNING
- PROFESSIONAL SCHOOLS
- Harvard Business School
- Stanford University

Harvard Business School
Tata Hall
Cambridge, MA

Tata Hall is a new Executive Education residential and classroom building being constructed at Harvard Business School in Boston. Located at the northeast corner of the campus, Tata Hall will enhance and extend the School's portfolio of Executive Education program offerings. The building will house executives who come from around the globe to advance their education and then return to strengthen their organizations. The arc-shaped building will contain 179 bedrooms with private baths, two 99-seat tiered classrooms, as well as office space for administrative staff and common spaces to help build community among the nearly 10,000 participants who attend the Executive Education programs each year. Construction began in December 2011. (150,000 s.f.)

Drawings: © Dongik Lee; William Rawn Associates

> PRINTER FRIENDLY PDF

SHARE +

